

Increase in Amarillo crime will also impact here

Alleged problems in the Amarillo Police Department, which have reportedly been linked to a dramatic increase in crime in that city this year will impact on Canyon residents, various law enforcement officials said here last week.

If Amarillo has already gained, or does in the future gain, the reputation as an easy mark for criminal elements, Canyon residents should brace for a certain spill-over effect, they said.

And, if as alleged, Amarillo police officials are ignoring the narcotics traffic in their city, local citizens can expect the narcotics traffic in Canyon to increase.

Randall County Dist. Atty. George Dowlen, an outspoken critic in area news media last week of the Amarillo Police Department, said Canyon can expect a crime increase if law enforcement to the north is lax.

Dowlen, who worked with a county grand jury a year ago in a special report on morale and other problems in the APD, said as criminals become more successful in Amarillo they will "undoubtedly look for new targets and certainly Canyon will be more vulnerable."

Secondarily, he noted, many Canyon residents spend time in Amarillo, either shopping or enjoying recreational facilities or working.

"It means Amarillo will not be as safe a place to go as it has been in the past if crime continues to grow," he said. "Most of the people in Canyon have felt it was safe for their kids to go to Amarillo and it still is, but if crime continues to grow as it has it will make some folks wonder if it's all that safe."

Dowlen said the fact that many Canyon young people and many students from West Texas State University spend much recreational time in Amarillo means they are being exposed to the greater probability of narcotics activities, since the APD is allegedly only using one part-time man to work narcotics investigations.

He noted the hard narcotics traffic is up in Amarillo, with only two cases of sale of heroin being made prior to Jan. 1 this year. The Department of Public Safety, he said, made 11 sale of heroin cases just recently in that city.

"The more hard narcotics there are this close to Canyon, well, obviously this makes it more accessible for young people from Canyon and West Texas State," he said.

Nevertheless, Dowlen said the laxity of police protection in Amarillo is mitigated to an extent by the work of the Canyon Police Department.

He noted that in Canyon, citizens have access to policemen who can respond to a call in any part of the city in a matter of a few minutes.

"This is the major reason, in my opinion, Canyon has not experienced the type of criminal outbreak that Amarillo has," he said.

Randall County Sheriff Cliff Longest said a dearth of city patrolmen in Amarillo has already impacted on his department and said the problem could impact on Canyon citizens.

Longest said with increasing frequency county deputies are being called on to answer calls inside the Amarillo city limits, calls they must answer due to the big backlog of calls many police officers must face on the Amarillo department.

Longest feels the first area of impact for increased criminal activity will be the southern outskirts of Amarillo. He doubts major criminal activity will be extended into Canyon to any great extent due to "all the stuff there is between Canyon and Amarillo."

Canyon Police Chief Al Stewart noted that Canyon has not been plagued with the kinds of major crimes prevalent to a noticeable degree in Amarillo recently. He said Canyon has had neither an armed robbery nor a murder in the last eight months.

However, he feels some burglaries which have been pulled on homes in Canyon were related directly to burglaries pulled in South Amarillo.

Of the narcotics problem, Stewart said he believes many narcotics go through that city for distribution in other areas towns. He also noted several Canyon residents have been arrested for narcotics-related crimes, such as selling and possession, which originated in Amarillo.

WT Buffs beat Drake in season opening tiff

DES MOINES IA. — Mike Wartes engineered three touchdown drives in the final 18 minutes of play to lead West Texas State University's Buffaloes to a 37-17 win over the Drake Bulldogs here Saturday afternoon in the Buffs' season opener.

Wartes who relieved starter Kelly Blanchard midway through the third quarter threw touchdown passes of 7 yards to Merced Solis and 10 yards to Mickey Mathews to get the Buffs off to a winning start in the Missouri Valley Conference.

While Wartes was leading the Buffs' offensive efforts, line-backers Bruce Davis and Steve Rogers led the defense in shutting down a Drake offense which had exploded for more than 200 yards in the first half.

Jonas Sears was the main thorn in the Buffaloes' side completing 19 of 33 passes for 261 yards and a pair of touchdowns. Most of that damage, however, was in the first half.

Davis and Rogers led the pass defense which allowed Sears only six completions in 16 attempts in the final 30 minutes of play.

Sears threw two interceptions and fumbled once in the last quarter helping the Buffs run out the clock after Wartes had given them the lead.

Mike Lozano stopped one drive with an interception on the Buff goal line and Rogers set up the final TD with a 13-yard return after an interception to the Drake 13.

West Texas had jumped to an early lead but Sears gave Drake the advantage at half-time with a pair of TD passes.

Bruce Wyrte put the Buffs on the board first with a 41-yard field goal in the first quarter and Johnny Darden made it 10-0 on the first play of the second quarter with a one-yard plunge.

Darden's TD came at the end of a 66-yard drive in 14 plays.

Passes to Mike Murphy and Jim O'Connor put Drake in the lead at the half. The Sears to O'Connor combination came with 14 seconds to go in the half.

The Buffs never let that bother them in the second half. On their first possession of the second half, after a short Bulldog punt, the West Texans moved 38 yards in three plays for the lead in points.

Schleider was the Buffs' leading ground gainer with 87 yards on 12 carries while Riggins added 79 on 9 totes. Wartes completed all three of his passes for 33 yards and two touchdowns.

Next week, the Buffs open their home season.

Player hurt in game at jr. high

A 13-year-old Canyon Junior High School football player was critically injured Thursday afternoon on the playing field here.

Greg Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jarriel Moore, who live north of the city, was injured during the fifth play of the game against Boys Ranch.

Moore was rushed to Northwest Texas Hospital where he underwent three hours of surgery. Doctors had to remove a blood clot in the brain area, according to sources.

Moore was playing defensive back for the Junior High White football team when injured.

A team coach said the play began and players

WT budget okayed by regents

The perilous journey in Austin began last week for the biennium budget request of about $21 million for West Texas State University with two actions.

Copies of the budget requests — for fiscal 1975-76 and fiscal 1976-77 — were sent to the Legislative Budget Board at mid-week and university regents approved the requests as compiled by WTSU officials on Thursday during a Dallas meeting.

The cutting and slicing will begin with the LBB in Austin on the requests' trip through the hierarchy on its way to the legislature which meets beginning in January and which must approve the appropriations sought for the university.

Local officials have their fingers crossed that their budget requests — heavily stressing the need for faculty salary increases — will be given full consideration by all bodies which must manipulate the document before it is approved.

The requests approved by regents calls for a faculty salary hike of 13.6 percent in fiscal 1975-76 and another raise in fiscal 1976-77 of 6.8 percent. It also asks for special appropriations for establishment of a Physical Resources Research Institute for the campus, an entity to study energy and water needs of the area.

During their Dallas session, regents also awarded bids for $1.5 million in combined fee revenue bonds, the sale of which will facilitate construction of a new fine arts building for the campus.

The contract for the bonds was awarded to Merrill Lynch-Pierce-Fenner & Smith, Inc.

The $1.5 million will be combined with a like amount raised from local private sources and with surplus in the WTSU budget to finance the construction program.

Some West Texas State University student musicians on the Amarillo Symphony Orchestra may complain loud and strong about pay inequities, but the symphony business manager says his efforts will be to maintain the status quo until a new conductor for the orchestra is hired next year.

The News learned last week several students feel they're being discriminated against in the pay they receive for concert performances with the orchestra; pay they say is based on three different scales.

James Alfante, business manager for the symphony, admitted the pay scale system appears to be rife with inconsistencies, but said he plans no changes for the time being.

One university student, who's played in the symphony for three years, told The News the orchestra pays three different scales with a $90 per concert fee going to principal or first chair musicians, a $75 per concert fee going to side chairs and a fee of $54 or $52 per concert going to student musicians.

He explained that a junior or senior university student is paid $54 per concert whereas a sophomore or freshman receives $52 per concert.

"It's not consistent," he said. "The work is being done and it would seem to me it doesn't really matter whether it's done by a high school student, a college student or some adult."

Alfante confirmed the pay scale for performers in the symphony and said the pay is set by the symphony board of directors.

He said several cities practice the dual pay scale for students in other areas.

The basis of the dual pay scale, he said, is the feeling among board members that the adult players in the symphony form the nucleus of the orchestra, a nucleus which is sustained throughout the years.

"They're the ones who founded the orchestra whereas students will be here four years at the very most," he said. "This is the basic rationale."

Alfante noted that graduate students are paid on the same basis as adults.

And, he said, the dual pay scale is not really as bad as it sounds.

"That $54 has some sizeable benefits," he said. For example, student members of the orchestra receive $100 per semester symphony scholarships at the opening of each school term. The $100 is tax free and is later deducted from each of the three concert performance checks for playing through the semester.

In addition, Alfante said, the symphony is plagued with the Two Canyon men and one man formerly of the city have been named Outstanding Young Men of America, it was announced last week.

They are John Wayne McNeill, a professor at West Texas State University, Capt. Russell Moore, associate professor of military science at WTSU, and Dr. William R. Cornette, a former Canyon resident now of Lubbock.

Now in its 10th year, Outstanding Young Men of America is an annual biographical compilation sponsored by leading men's civic, service and professional organizations. The awards volume features the accomplishments of about 6300 men from throughout the country.

Criteria for inclusion in the volume include service to others, professional excellence, business advancement, charitable activities and civic and professional recognition. Men chosen for inclusion are between the ages of 21 and 35.

Nominations for the awards publication are made by civic organizations, Jaycee chapters, college alumni associations and military commandants.

McNeill, a native of Wayside, is currently acting head of the animal science department at WTSU and is also coordinator of agricultural research at the university.

He is a 1964 graduate of Happy High School and received his bachelors degree in 1968 from Texas A&M University. He received a masters degree from A&M in 1969 and received his doctorate in 1974 from the University of Kentucky.

He has taught at WTSU for four years.

McNeill is a member of the national American Society of Animal Science and the Plains Nutrition Council.

He and his wife, Judy, have three children, Mary Jon, 6, Kay, 4, and Scott, 2.

Moore, a career Army officer, is a native of Fort Knox, Ky., and has been stationed in Canyon for two years.

He received his bachelors degree from the University of Texas at El Paso in secondary education, and received his masters degree from WTSU recently in history.

His duty assignments include tours in Vietnam, Germany, Air Bliss, Tex., and Holmstead Air Force Base, Fla.

He joined the Army in 1965.

He and his wife, Rebecca Ann, have a daughter, Rebecca Susan,

3, and a son, James Bradford, 6 months.

Cornette, son of Dr. and Mrs. James P. Cornette of Canyon, is currently chairman of the information systems and quantitative services area in the college of business at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

He is a Canyon native and is a graduate of CHS.

Cornette received his bachelors degree from Tech in 1963 and his MBA from St. Louis University in 1967. He received an MA degree from Oklahoma University in 1969 and his PhD.

in economics from OU in 1970.

In Lubbock, Cornette is active in Boy Scouts, Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity, and the Second Baptist Church.

He and his wife, Sylvia, have two daughters, Rachel, 8, and Cheryl, 4.

Animal control solutions constant worry for city

They're not felons or common criminals, but they're part of a burgeoning population in Canyon which city officials say create constant and apparently insoluble problems.

They're animals, pets, and officials indicate they cause more of a purely political problem than most anything else.

The problem is really multi-fold and involves enforcement of a city ordinance which requires pet owners to keep their animals on leash or in fenced yards. The problem is not, say policemen, stray dogs and cats. It is pets, animals allowed to roam at will by their owners.

The problem is what to do about those pets—companions and loved ones to some, nuisances and outright bothers to others. Or, stated differently, what to do about the owners of the pets.

City Manager George Louder points out the kind of position the enforcement officers must occupy—a position somewhere between the rock and the hard place.

"Let's say you got two animal-lovers, one who loves birds and one who loves cats. The one who loves birds is going to be complaining all the time about cats trying to get the birds. If the measures you take are too strong, then the cat-lover is going to be complaining."

Louder admits there are solutions, but he believes them to be politically untenable.

One solution, for example, is to simply shoot dogs and cats which are running loose on sight. Another is to pick them up and charge their owners exorbitant fees to bail their animals out of the clink.

Residents who find their trash cans dumped over and litter scattered along their alley-way day in and day out are tempted to call for initiation of the former solution.

Louder admits the pet handling situation is touchy—a matter of offending public opinion. For that reason he rejects outright the most extreme solutions to the animal problems.

He would take a more moderate approach, pointing out that pet problems can be a most explosive issue for city government.

"Some people react more strongly if you do something to their dog than they do if you pick up their kids," he says, shaking his head.

Louder sees the basic problem as one of numbers. While zero population growth is a fashionable goal for American families, the pet population throughout the country is skyrocketing.

Canyon, he says, faces the same problem faced in every other city of any size in the country.

But, Louder believes the problem is under some control here due to vigorous efforts by city policemen.

Chief of Police Al Stewart says his animal control officer has been picking up many more dogs than in previous years. Since April, he points out, the city has spent $950 to put animals to sleep after they went unclaimed. At about $5 per animal that means about 190 animals.

The city's current solution to the problem of loose pets is to fine the pet owners. If an animal is picked up once, the owner is charged $5 to bail him out. The fine doubles for each time the pet is caught.

The City of Dimmitt recently instituted a program which places a $25 fine on the animal owner each time his pet is picked up.

That city's chief of police vowed the new system is working wonders on the loose animal problem there.

"We've had very very good luck," he said.

"It's really working good."

For the chief there, politics has taken a back seat to reality. He feels the fine not stiff enough.

"If a mad dog bit your kid, do you think it would be too much fine?" he asks. "If the fine was $500 it would probably be better. They (owners) wouldn't let them (their pets) out at all."

Stewart takes a more moderate view of the fine charged in Dimmitt.

"Twenty-five dollars—wow," he said. "I don't think that's fair."

The chief said he feels many owners try to keep their dogs inside fences "but dogs, being dogs, what if they just jump the fence or dig under it?"

Officials, he said, "are trying to look at it both ways."

Louder, too, believes the $25 fine is too stiff.

Courts Are At Fault

By ANN BROWN
U.S. District Court Judge William Wayne Justice has ordered the two largest boys' reform schools in Texas phased out. His order also demands communities handle their own juvenile delinquents.
Does a federal judge actually have the power to close our state reformatories, and force communities to assume responsibility for local delinquents? If so, why does he not apply that awesome power to the source of the problem by forcing the parents to take care of their own children?
It is true that one little rotten apple can ruin a whole barrel, but parents should have to pay for the depredations of their children, regardless.
If parents were forced to pay for all the stolen merchandise, vandalism, and "borrowed" cars their children "enjoy," they would be so busy looking after their homes they would not have time for drinking bouts, mate-swapping clubs, and other extracurricular activities.
The "society" that delinquents are really rebelling against is their parents. Finding that venting their resentments on their parents brings painful repercussions, they usually seek safer outlets for pent-up hostilities.
Parents who smoke and drink, but beat their children for stealing their cigarettes and drinking up their liquor, breed deceit and seething hatred into the youngsters.

And parents who deliver pious moral lectures, while indulging in extramarital affairs, or living with the second, third, or fourth mates, arouse nothing but disgust, resentment, and bitterness in their children.
Pets, playmates, and school teachers are usually the primary targets for the delinquents' bitterness. Then they branch out to stores, school buildings, and helpless old people.
Eventually, any man or beast that happens to cross the delinquents' paths may become their prey. The "Brady Bunch" in Houston readily admitted they killed their robbery victims just for the fun of it.
For whatever reason a home is broken, the children suffer some emotional, social, and financial deprivation. It is not possible for any mother to supply the emotional support a child needs from his father. And the best father in the world cannot take the place of the mother.
Many mothers who marry again just to "get a father for the children" end up being buffers between their children and the new fathers. This absorbs even more of their limited time and energy, leaving less time than ever for their emotionally starved children.
A college boy withdrew in his junior year because, he said, he knew he would never amount to anything, so why keep struggling.
The young man was well above average in intelligence, and obviously handsome and charming. Why would one so well endowed think he was destined to failure?
The parents had separated when the boy was too young to remember. Both had made new homes, but neither had room for their firstborn.
The little outcast had lived in a succession of relatives' homes, but had never felt welcome in any of them.
In studying genetics, he had been convinced that having come from parents too irresponsible to take care of their own lonely, miserable son, there could not be much good in him.
District courts permit fathers to walk out and leave their children to starve, grow up on the streets, or whatever. Federal courts demand the community assume responsibility for those children after they become delinquent.
Even if they had the right to make our laws, what can the federal courts hope to accomplish by locking the barns after the district courts have turned the horses out?

Grant Given WT Students

A substantial amount of scholarship money is available for West Texas State University history majors who are classified juniors and above, noted Dr. Duane Guy, department head.
"We can award individual scholarships up to $500," Guy said. "The only qualifications are that the student be at least a junior majoring in history. Graduate history majors are also included."
The scholarship money is the interest accumulated from a $50,000 donation left to the WTSU History Department by former department head L. F. Sheffy. The L. F. Sheffy Memorial Fund is administered through Educational Endowments, which is under the WTSU Foundation.
Scholarships have been awarded regularly from this donation since its inception in 1967. Two $500 scholarships have already been given this fall by Dr. Guy.
"We encourage anyone of upper division standing in history to apply," Guy concluded.

'State Of WT' Speech Set Wed. By President

The significance West Texas State University can have for the region and the nation will be explored in a "State of the University" speech to be presented at a faculty meeting on campus Wednesday by President Lloyd I. Watkins.
Faculty and staff members will gather at 4 p.m. in the ballroom of the activities center for the address. Watkins second such speech since his arrival on campus in August 1973.

ZPG Could ZAP Us

By CARROLL WILSON

The graying of America, says Time Magazine's latest issue, is a direct function of the national movement toward zero population growth, a movement which will eventually have grave social implications for America.
Babies, they report, are no longer Gerber Products Co.'s only business, and apparently they're becoming a sideline for American two-member families.
It's just not in any more to have kids. In fact, Time reports, there's a good deal of animosity expressed towards those of us who find it difficult to keep our number of children to the flat 2.11 per family limit which supposedly must be met to achieve ZPG.

For all the pages and words Time gives the problem, projecting the effects of ZPG on the year 2025, they've overlooked a phenomenon which is a major problem now and, if I'm right in my analysis, will be a monumental problem in 2025.

That problem is dogs and cats—pets if you will.

My basic assumption is that in a childless family there is a vacuum, there's something missing. Not in every childless family to be sure. But, in a rather unscientific way, I've observed that there are a couple of different reasons why people have dogs and cats around the house.

Junior—or his little sister—may put up a howl for a doggie and Mom and Dad may take on another mouth to feed. Dogs do make nice Christmas presents. Or Dad and Mom may feel Junior could benefit from the experience of being responsible for a dog. Thus, for a variety of reasons, a family with children may have a pet.

Then, there's the other group with pets and this is the group I'm concerned about, the group with surrogate children.

This group includes the little old maids who've never had kids, but who raise a surrogate child—Poochie or Missie or some such—and assume a parental relationship with the little mutt.

It also includes the urbane couple who have foregone children in the name of either their own selfishness or in the name of ZPG, or the couple who for some reason cannot have children.

Again, they assume the parental role in handling their pets and the dog or cat becomes a surrogate child.

Whether surrogate child or not, dogs and cats become a major object of affection and love for many people. City Manager George Louder reports that today in Canyon he's likely to become involved in a more explosive relationship with the owner of some dog than with the father of an indolent son.

The pet boom is already on. Reports indicate there's more spent on pet food and supplies right now in America than for the care of humans. Pets increase more rapidly than humans.

What, then, of the future, of 2025 when Americans reach ZPG and the idea of having kids is passe?

It is not irrational to project that long before 2025 the American pet will emerge as a national under-dog, perhaps replacing Blacks and women as favored groups. Not minority groups, to be sure, because there are probably already more dogs and cats in this country than there are women.

And, that's the reason I'm worried.

Minority groups, as we've all witnessed in the past two decades, must raise holy havoc to get recognition for their plight from the majority, a group which is all too often silent but overpowering in its antipathy to anything but the most cumbersome movement.

It is not irrational to project that at some time in the future, it will dawn upon the nation's pet lovers that they are a discriminated against majority, unable to enter the best restaurants with their animals, unable to attend the downtown movie theatre. Let's face it, it's bad enough to have to sit in the back of the bus, but when you and your pet can't even get on the bus, it's downright discrimination.

America is a country built on the concept of majority rule. Now, with that principle in mind is it less than realistic to expect that the majority, which owns dogs and cats, will eventually find a rationale for governmental action—and then governmental protection—of themselves and their surrogate children?

If Congress, the President and the Supreme Court have been whipped into line for minority rights, it isn't hard to imagine their reaction to complaints of a majority.

It's not hard to visualize the kind of logical leap which will be argued to justify government's protection of dogs and cats.

If the argument that all men are created equal is logical in America where a man can become vice president or president because he was born to wealth and had a powerful daddy while the black slum dweller has no bootstraps with which to elevate himself from the gutter, isn't it just a short leap to the logical conclusion that all animals—man included—are created equal?

In perusing an 800-page 1974 Catalog of Domestic Federal Assistance recently, the thought occurred that it is hard to imagine what possible part of my life the federal government does not already manipulate or touch in some fashion.

If the thesis is true that bureaucracy is self-perpetuating and expends its primary energies in a fight for survival, then it must also be true that the bureaucracy, which in fact runs the country, must continually pursue new programs through which survival can be assured.

Dog and cat discrimination, the care of dogs and cats, provides the potential for a whole new realm of bureaucratic attention. The programs available for implementation are as varied and all-encompassing as the nearly 1000 programs already in existence just on the home front through the government.

One can foresee, for example, new federal agencies such as those which now administer man-related programs, agencies to administer a Dog and Cat Health Care Program, an Elderly Dog and Cat Senility Institute, a Disadvantaged Puppies Educational Program, a Fire Plug Availability Project, a Dog Bone Protection Agency, and hundreds of others relating just to health and education alone.

Textbooks will, no doubt, be rewritten to show the true place of dogs and cats in those great events which go down as American history.

Several more colorful phrases in the English language will be stricken and Lyndon Johnson will have yet another sin heaped on his departed shoulders—the elevation of his beagles by their ears.

The revolution is coming. We better watch where we step.

Fire School At City Field

Canyon's volunteer firemen will host a Panhandle-wide fire school to be taught under the auspices of Texas A&M University Tuesday and Wednesday at Lindsey Training Field here.

The school, first of its kind to be hosted by the local department, is expected to draw as many as 500 firemen from rural towns in the area to Canyon for instruction by about 50 instructors.

The public is invited to the two evening sessions and donuts and coffee will be served spectators. The school will begin at 7 p.m. each night and should end about 10 p.m.

A spokesman for the local fire department said instruction will be given in three basic phases of fire control — one involving a house fire, one involving a tank truck fire and another involving a pit fire.

The facilities at Lindsey field include fire simulations for training which have been highly praised by regional and state fire officials.

FTA Sets Salad Supper

A salad supper for members of the Future Teachers of America at Canyon High School will be held in the high school cafeteria September 23 at 6:30 p.m.

The 82 members of the FTA and their parents are invited to attend. Officer installation and induction of members will also take place during the meeting.

New officers for the coming year that will be inducted include Don Stribling, president; Sheryl Sommer, vice president; Marcella Patterson, secretary; DeAnn Holmes, treasurer; Sheryl Dees, historian; and Robbie Harbison, parliamentarian.

Drill, More Drill Mean Good Shows For WT Band

The West Texas State University marching band of 192 members drawn from this fall's record-breaking band enrollment of 242 musicians, will take the field at the WTSU-NMSU game Saturday in Kimbrough Stadium.

When the half-time whistle blows, the 192 bandmen, led by drum major Lewis Thompson and assistant drum major Tracy Collins, will stand ready to usher in another season of the precision marching for which the Buffalo Band is acclaimed.

To train 192 individuals—tall and short, male and female, brass, woodwind and percussion—to march as if they had one mind in them is no easy undertaking, but this is precisely the task Dr. Gary Garner, director of the WTSU band, sets for himself.

From his command post high on a scaffold overlooking the practice field, he oversees the passing and re-passing, the pivoting and maneuvering of those long columns.

Correction, when he administers it, is humorously phrased. "There's one horn player whose pivot I'd love to do an imitation of—I may later." "I worry about that tuba squad; you guys look like a mob with no rope."

And after a particularly ragged maneuver, "You just have one thing to remember: when to turn to the rear. It's really very simple — only 192 people have to remember it!"

No one who watches the Buffalo Band drilling in the noon-day sun on the practice field comes away unimpressed by the morale and spirit of this group. Alternates waiting eagerly on the sidelines sprint to fill each vacancy in the ranks as the attendance check is made. Painsaking redrilling of a section of the show insures that formation will appear on the beat. And the synchronized beat of the two drum majors restores the ensemble to order after an error.

The Buffalo Band will accompany the football team on one out-of-town trip this fall: the Tulsa University game on October 19. At the conclusion of the football season, the bandmen are divided into two groups, the Symphonic Band and the Concert Band. Both bands will be presented in a concert on December 15.

Officers for the band this fall are Gordon Hart, president, from Azle; Donald Young, vice president, from Clovis; Sharon Becky Wesley, WT student of Canyon, received a $25 scholarship from accounting department at West Texas State University.

Miss Wesley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Wesley, Box 831. She applied for this scholarship during fall registration at the beginning of the year.

If one is in your blood, be sure that the other is not.

Not even a "little drink" is entirely safe, depending on other factors or conditions that may be present in your blood.

Other medicines, too, could affect or be affected by Valium. Why not ask your doctor or pharmacist—just to be sure your blood does not become a "battle-field" between antagonistic drugs.

Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Begins Humbly During Depression Years

Beta Sigma Phi sorority presently has 10,870 chapters covering an international scope but began humbly in Abilene, Texas during the depression when the BSP Founder, Walter W. Ross, saw the need for a "social outlet devoted to any young woman's interests" whether they were housewives, college students or single and alone.

The social aspect of the sorority strives for "Life, Learning and Friendship" as a total objective for women to broaden their scope in life, make new friendships and share common interests.

Sorority membership is extended only by invitation of a current member and chapter meetings are arranged to coincide with public schools from September through May. BSP Headquarters are located in Kansas City, Kansas and the guideline of 18 chapter meetings is handed down from headquarters as are the study guidelines.

Pledges are accepted by invitation to the chapters and new members are first accepted into the Ritual of Jewels chapters of which Canyon has two including the Chi Upsilon chapter and the Alpha Theta Delta chapter, which has been functioning about 3 years.

After four years of active membership in a Ritual of Jewels chapter, members are then extended the exemplar degree and elevated to the local exemplar chapter, Xi Kappa Zeta. Aims and purposes of the ritual and exemplar chapters are very similar in that the memberships have study topics of interest to all and social affairs along with service projects at each chapter's discretion.

When members have completed six years in an exemplar chapter they may now elevate to the preceptor degree and be advanced into the Preceptor Gamma Chi chapter. Until late this summer, Canyon was without a preceptor degree chapter but one was recently organized here for those members having long standing memberships who gathered to seek their charter from headquarters.

When preceptor degree members have been in Gamma Chi chapter for a period of eight years, they may then gain the new Preceptor Laureate Degree and it is hoped that by the time such a need is warranted a chapter will be available here.

Although Canyon does not have one, the junior degree for young students and housewives at the beginning level is attained in Nu Phi Mu chapters in many cities.

Area Beta Sigma Phi conventions are held each year during the fall months and the state BSP conventions are conducted during spring or early summer.

In Canyon's Beta Sigma Phi chapters there has been a coordinating group comprised of each chapter president and two other representatives who meet jointly to discuss ultimate goals of the sorority locally. The coordinating group also annually makes plans for the Founder's Day Banquet held during April where the "girl of the year" and "pledge of the year" are recognized with honors.

The chapters (Alpha Theta Delta, Chi Upsilon, and Xi Kappa Zeta) have in the past conducted their own Valentine Balls where husbands are guests and honors are bestowed on the Princess and Queen selected by popular vote among the members.

Although study guidelines are conducted their own Valentine Balls where husbands are guests and honors are bestowed on the Princess and Queen selected by popular vote among the members.

Monita Benham is the current president of the chapter. Other officers for 1974-75 are Bettie Hunter, vice president; Nell Sims, recording secretary; Kay Thomas, extension officer; Velta Hord, corresponding secretary; and Juanita Johnston, treasurer.

Fund raising projects for the chapter are operated during the year to be used toward a number of civic and charity projects supported by the chapter including "baskets of food" for needy families in Canyon at Thanks-furnished from National Headquarters, it is local member participation in such programs as art, music, self-betterment, and other topics of interest which make the sorority life an engrossing adventure for many young giving, aid to the Canyon Girl Scouts, and gifts for the children at High Plains Children's Home during Christmas time.

The chapter also helps to present a scholarship for a Canyon High School girl graduate each year who is planning to attend West Texas State University.

This year the chapter is planning to have a booth at the Halloween Carnival, a special bake sale for April to benefit the Girl women. Each chapter stresses the participation of all members in programs and projects and each year the chapters select their "program of the year" which is a noted honor for the member so recognized.

Scouts of Canyon and in October they have scheduled a Stretch 'n Sew Fashion Revue here.

In addition to other social and program meetings, the chapter is active at the social highlights for Beta Sigma Phi including the Valentine Ball where the "queen and princess" are crowned and the Founder's Day Banquet during April where the Girl of the Year, Pledge of the Year and Husband of the Year are honored guests.

Alpha Theta Delta Chapter Awards 'Ritual Of Jewels'

The newest Ritual of Jewels degree chapter in Canyon Beta Sigma Phi sorority is the Alpha Theta Delta chapter presently under the direction of Mary Alice Hines, president.

A box supper Saturday evening in Palo Duro Canyon for chapter members and their husbands opened the chapter's social calendar for 1974. The chapter also met last week for a program "definition of happiness" beginning the year's programs.

Service projects planned by the chapter this year include a garage sale where all items remaining at the close of the sale will be given to Goodwill Industries; a basket filled with canned goods, staples and meats to be given a deserving family in Canyon at Thanksgiving; a gift certificate for an underprivileged family to select their own Christmas gifts. The chapter also helps with an International Endowment Fund as well as participating with other local Beta Sigma Phi chapters for the local high school scholarship project.

Fund raising for the chapter includes a booth at the Halloween Carnival in Canyon, as well as the recent garage sale and box supper. This year, the chapter is also planning to conduct a sale of gift wrapping paper and ribbon throughout October and November and will raise funds from the sale of stationery notes if the budget requires the funding later in the year.

Working with Mrs. Hines in the chapter are Betty Ferguson, chapter sponsor, and officers including Martha Bethel, ways and means chairman; Linda Daniels, recording secretary; Virginia Grimes, treasurer; Sue Lewis, vice president; Donna Pittman, corresponding secretary; and Cindy Stevenson, social chairman. Other chapter members are Linda Conway, Judy Hill, Naja Maxwell, and Vicky Simmons.

Chi Upsilon First 'Ritual Of Jewels' Chapter

Chi Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority was the first Ritual of Jewels degree chapter chartered in Canyon and will continue active participation in the community this year under the leadership of Marge Sharp, president.

Chapter meetings are held on the first and third Monday evenings of each month (September through May) in the homes of various members. Social activities are planned for chapter members each month.

The Chi Upsilon chapter projects include a booth at the Halloween Carnival during October, an annual Volleyball Tournament for area teams during March and fund raising projects such as a post-a-note sale and boot raffle during December.

A child at the High Plains Children's Home is adopted each chapter year by the membership to include remembrances on their birthday at Christmastime and other occasions.

A "basket for the needy" is also a project of the chapter with baskets of food being delivered to needy families in the community both at Christmas and Thanksgiving.

The chapter also takes special pride in helping with the Beta Sigma Phi scholarship giving to a deserving Canyon High School graduate at spring awards time. The scholarship is denoted to a student planning to continue studies at West Texas State University.

Preceptor Gamma Chi Chapter Newest BSP Unit Founded Here

Canyon's newest chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority is the Preceptor Gamma Chi chapter organized during the past summer which will meet throughout September-May with various chapter members responsible for the monthly programs which are to be designed for enrichment of individual members.

The chapter will meet on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month under the guidance of Jean Irwin, president. Other officers for the charter year are Lucille Robinson, vice president; Jeannie Kuhlman, treasurer; Sammie Stroud, recording secretary; Wynema Brotherton, corresponding secretary; and Betty Patterson, extension officer. Other charter members of the chapter are Billie Bee Flesher and Virginia Rossiter.

The new Preceptor Gamma Chi chapter is distinguished as having three members who have attained the highest honor awarded by Beta Sigma Phi in the "order of the rose". This high honor is held by Wynema Brotherton, Billie Bee Flesher and Jean Irwin of the chapter.

As the sorority year began, the Preceptor Gamma Chi chapter met Thursday evening for a salad supper and invited several from Xi Kappa Zeta chapter here to share the evening as they revealed last year's 'Beta Buddies'. The members of the new chapter were among the original charter members of the Xi Kappa Zeta chapter when it was originally chartered here.

Eagles Edged By Bulldogs 6-0 In Defensive Battle

Another heartbreaker for the Canyon Eagles was played Friday night at Frank Kimbrough Memorial Stadium as the Eagles lost 6-0 in a hard fought defensive effort on the part of both the Eagles and the Borger Bulldogs.

When short yardage was needed for first downs the Borger defense would go into a seven man front line and the Eagle offensive unit could not push their way through. When inside the 20 yard line on Borger's end of the field Canyon could not generate the drive needed to push the ball across the goal line. According to Coach Ron Mills, head football coach at Canyon High School, the Eagles will be working this next week on goal line offense.

The Eagle ground gain did not compare with last week's 368 yards. The Eagles were able to gain only 152 yards on the ground against the Bulldog defense. The Eagles gained 79 yards in the first half and 73 yards in the second half.

Craig Johnson could not find the running room which was his last week when he totalled 126 yards in the rushing department. This week Johnson gained only 73 yards during the game. This was over half of the total yardage gained by the Eagle offense. Johnson carried the ball 21 times.

The Borger defense keyed on Jimmy Ward, Eagle fullback, as did the Monterey Plainsmen last week. Ward gained only seven yards in the first half. He lost seven in the second half. Ward was the only Eagle starter who went both ways during the game.

Adrian Foil gained 43 yards during the game with 36 yards coming in the first half. Other ground gainers include Garre LaGrone with 24 yards and Kevin Rael with 10 yards.

Leading ground gainer for Borger was Mike Glover who totalled 151 of the 263 total yards for Borger. The Bulldogs gained 179 yards during the first half of play and only 84 yards during the second half.

They attempted only one pass for a 31 yard gain.

Yardage and first downs were the major factors statistically in the game. Borger gained 13 first downs in the game and Canyon gained only seven.

Quarterback LaGrone, for the Eagles, attempted six passes and was able to complete only one to wingback Ronnie Hicks for five yards.

Canyon again lost the toss this week and kicked off to the Borger team. On the first drive, the Bulldogs pushed the ball from the 10 yard line to their 23 where they booted a punt to the Eagles.

The Eagles were unable to move the ball more than four yards in three plays and were forced to return the Borger 45 yard punt with a 28 yard punt of their own.

New Assistant Girls Basketball Coach Named

Paulette Burrhus has been named as assistant girls basketball coach at Canyon High School and Canyon Junior High. She will assist Bob Schneider, head girls coach, and Barry Hughey.

Prior to coming to Canyon, she coached for three years at Brazosport. She worked with the ninth grade girls team there. The ninth grade team at Brazosport was the first opportunity for girls to participate in a basketball program, according to Ms. Burrhus.

Familiar with working with beginning basketball players, she stated that a proper program has to have a junior high program to develop good teams for future high school teams.

She holds a Master of Arts degree from Texas Women's University in Denton.

While in high school, she played basketball at Edna, Texas. She played on a state championship in 1965 while a senior at Edna. They defeated Friona by two points in that game.

JV Blasts Borger 45-0

The Canyon Eagle Junior Varsity blasted the Borger JV's 45-0 in Thursday night's game played here. This is the second win of the season for the Eagle JV.

Konnie Whitney led the yardage department having gained 200 yards. Whitney also scored two TD's. Mark Madewell gained 155 yards and scored twice.

Ricky Cooper booted three PAT's, ran 71 yards, passed for 71 yards and scored one TD. He also punted for a total of 168 yards.

Jonathan Hull carried the ball 112 yards and scored one TD. Randy Langen ran for 20 yards, John Prater caught two passes for 44 yards, Kenneth Welch punted twice for 80 yards and passed for 9 yards and Mark Lawrence caught one pass for 5 yards.

Girls To Play Flag Football

Kids, Inc. has 106 boys and 10 girls signed up for the program this year.

There were not enough girls for soccer this year so girls who have signed up will play in the boys flag football. There are 40-50 boys who will be playing flag football this year.

The flag football and regular seasons will start September 21 and run for six weeks. Games will be played each Saturday morning.

The real waterfowl hunter needs to stop and think for a minute about the welfare of the birds, and without seeming too biased, about the future of waterfowling here in the panhandle.

Just how good could it be?

Does the panhandle hunter have to depend upon nature to fill the lakes for the birds to have a resting place during the winter? The waterfowl hunters here need to start asking why they pay money to our wildlife departments (state and federal) when they show no concern over our panhandle problems, our wants and needs. These birds need protected resting places to insure their return each year. The Texas Parks & Wildlife department could set up lease agreements with lake-owning land owners and furnish this necessity. Public hunting might even be implemented if wanted.

They could furnish protected nesting sites for incubation of our thousands of ducks that are raised here each summer. If they are lucky, now, they are only a step ahead of our combines in getting out of the fields to water, to survival. Again, the state department could and should help.

Other states have brought the Greater Canada goose into areas that never had them before. This is a new program that could be implemented here in the panhandle.

There is a nagging list of things that could be done here to preserve and improve the sport, but it seems the Park and Wildlife Commission are listening only to the loudest voices.

The concentrated hunting interests along the coast scream at every opportunity to gain favor and, whether right or wrong, are heard. It is time the Panhandle is heard. It is time some requests are met and some conditions are changed to benefit

9th Grade Purple Blank Fannin

The Canyon Junior High School ninth grade Purple football team downed the Fannin Junior High ninth grade team 14-0 in Amarillo Tuesday.

The Canyon team lead at half time by a score of 6-0 following a one yard plunge by Robert Dustman which scored the first TD.

Canyon, the Eagles had their best drive of the night and it looked as though the game might be a high scoring contest.

The Eagles took the ball on the 27 yard line. On the first play from scrimmage, Ward was unable to gain yardage but a face-mask penalty was called against Borger and the ball was advanced to the Canyon 42. On a LaGrone lateral to Foil, Foil carried the ball to the Borger 27 yard line. The Eagles managed to get the ball to the Borger four yard line but were stopped there

Sideline Views

By JIM ROGERS

"This group will not get down," stated Ron Mills, head football coach at CHS. It is hoped that the Eagles will evaluate their play and continue improvement that they are making but it is hoped that they will not get down on themselves and thus have a bad season.

This is a fine group of young men who are playing football for the Eagles this year. Their dedication to the game, their school and their coaching staff is tremendous.

One of the things that is dictating this feeling is that the school and coaching staff are returning the dedication. This writer sat in on the first part of the Eagle pep rally Friday afternoon and watched as the student body showed overwhelming support for their team. He also watched and listened following the game as the coaching staff discussed good and bad points of the game.

If the attitude that is being displayed continues, it will be a good season for the Eagles. If not it may get long.

One thing is pointed out by Mills and that is the Eagles are having a better chance of recognizing their mistakes when they play I-A schools.

It can be pointed out that Perryton defeated Borger on the Friday night prior to the Eagle-Borger game. When the Eagles ran for 40 yards.

Vince Price was named as outstanding offensive lineman. Stan Cranmer was outstanding defensive lineman. Holladay was named outstanding offensive back and Dustman was named outstanding defensive back.

The Texas Panhandle winters vast numbers of ducks each year as well as a healthy goose population. The hunter who wants to hunt waterfowl doesn't have much competition, and if he can locate the birds, he stands a fair chance to be successful. He doesn't consider in any great detail where the birds go when he runs them off of a lake, or what happens to them when his favorite lake is drained for irrigation purposes.

meet Perryton, it will be a tough contest. Keep in mind that Perryton won during the last seconds of the game on a PAT. Excitement will be strong during all Eagle contests this year.

Another sport that is not thought about during football season is basketball. Coach B.B. Kendrick and 38 boys are presently spending sixth period each day at the high school getting in shape for the coming season. There are only four seniors out this year. Coach Kendrick lost 9 of 11 varsity members following graduation last spring.

Lynn Wright is the only starter that is returning this year. Ken Cooper is a returning varsity member although he did not draw a starting assignment last year.

Again, one feels a sense of dedication of coach and players to one another. While talking with Wright, one gets the idea that Kendrick could make a basket while standing on the outside of the gym and being blind-folded.

This sense of team spirit should enable Canyon to have a good basketball as well as football season this year.

This is a fine tribute to winning coaches in both basketball and football.

and had to give up the ball on downs.

Borger had the ball twice during the remainder of the first half and Canyon offense saw the ball only once more. The half ended with the Borger offense knocking on the door of another touchdown as they had the ball on the Canyon seven yard line.

In the second half, Canyon received the kick off but were unable to get beyond their own 36 yard line. The battle remained a see-saw affair until with 12 minutes left in the game, the Eagles staged another drive which saw them take the ball from their own 41 yard line to the Borger 7.

Johnson, Foil and LaGrone carried the ball to the Borger 39 yard line. With one half yard needed for the second first down of the series, Johnson took the ball on a 9 yard jaunt which placed the Eagles on the Borger 30. A 15 yard piling on penalty was tacked on to the end of Johnson's run and the ball was placed

Golf Scramble Set At Lake Tanglewood

A Florida Scramble will be held at the Lake Tanglewood Golf Course Sept. 21-22. Entry fee for the scramble is $10 per person. This is the first tournament to be held at the Lake Tanglewood course.

Shotgun starts will be held at 9 a.m., 12 noon and 4 p.m. The number of flights depends on the number of entries. The first 18 holes played on Saturday will qualify golfers by flights. A total of 36 holes will determine the winners.

A practice round of nine holes may be played by tournament entrants on Friday afternoon. Cost of the practice round will be $1.25 per nine holes.

The Ladies Golf Association will furnish sandwiches and cokes to golfers during the tournament. Also as an extra activity, ball in the circle chances will be staged.

For further information call Roy Stockton at 622-0591.

on the Bulldog 15. With 10:53 left in the game, the Eagles moved the ball to the 7 but had to give up the ball on downs.

Borger took the ball there and moved it to their 20 yard line where they fumbled and the Eagles recovered the ball with 7:58 left in the game. The Eagle offense was unable to generate yardage and with seven minutes left in the game gave up the ball after a fourth down and 13 yards needed situation.

Time ran out with Borger on the Canyon 29 yard line.

Rusty Holladay, number 33 for the Canyon Eagles, gets a much needed block from teammate Jimmy Ward as Holladay gets off a kick during action in Friday night's contest at Frank Kimbrough Memorial Stadium. Holladay averaged 34 yards per punt during the game which Canyon lost 6-0 to the Borger Bulldogs.

Moore remained in critical condition Saturday at the Amarillo hospital's intensive care unit.

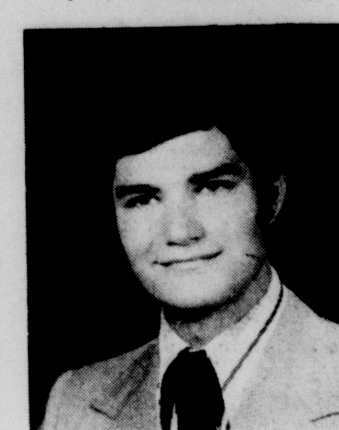

It was the first serious injury to a football player in Canyon in a number of years.

The white team, its morale shot by the injury to Moore, lost to the Boys Ranchers by a 45-0 score.

Family Service To Aid Family's Needs

Canyon Community Family Service Organization has been in existence in the city for six months and along with aid already given local citizens in need have goals and projects for concerned aid and assistance when needed by local individuals and families.

"We are here to provide information and help to families and individuals in securing community, state and federal resources which are available to them when warranted," stated Rev. Terry P. White, temporary chairman of the group.

A current service of the group is the proper application for food stamps which are handled by Carmen Hernandez, 655-3394. Food stamp blanks are readily available through contacting Mrs. Hernandez who serves as a co-ordinator for community services within the organization.

The CCFSO is comprised of representatives encompassing an ecumenical background from several city churches including the Episcopal, Catholic, Methodist, Presbyterian and Christian. Each church has several members on the steering committee while the First Baptist Church and Central Church of Christ have donated time, effort and clothing to the projects of the committee.

The committee's temporary chairman, Rev. White, is minister for the First Christian Church in Canyon and stated that the committee "encourages families to cooperate with and use the resources which exist for their financial, medical and other special needs."

"We also provide direct aid to the 'poor' of the city including all ages, ethnic backgrounds, and all races. We help them through 'hard times' with food, shelter, transportation, medical treatment, and financial assistance," related Rev. White.

"Volunteers from our committee help to give these folks transportation to seek medical aid, redeem their food stamps or whatever is necessary," he said. "The service of our volunteers is known as the FISH program."

Another goal of the committee is the "education of the community" to the needs of others. Since its inception in March 1974 the committee has been beneficial in aiding about 25 families locally as well as numerous individuals, both young and old.

New Appointments For Terry White

problem of not having a conductor this year, following the sudden resignation last spring of Tom Hohstadt.

"We're trying to hold the orchestra together until we get a new conductor," he said. "I know they're (the students) unhappy, but if we make a change now it would make other adults unhappy. For right now I don't want to make too drastic a change in a year which is fraught with anxiety anyhow."

Alfonse also feels the college students are gaining valuable experience by being allowed to perform with the symphony.

"I do feel it's one of the immeasurable benefits just because we have an Amarillo Symphony Orchestra and the experience is worth something in dollars and cents if they plan to pursue a career in music," he said.

Both Louder and Stewart said a partial aid to a partial solution of the pet problem is better information from citizens who are annoyed by pets.

"Nobody should have to be bothered by somebody else's pet," Louder said.

ject.

The new building is expected to become reality next spring. An architectural firm has already been hired and is working on plans for the design.

Regents approved the transfer to the campus of the old historic T-Anchor Ranchhouse, which is currently located on the university farm north of Canyon and east of U.S. 87.

The ranch house will be moved to a location just north of the annex of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, where it will become an outdoor exhibit. The museum's board of directors sought the ranchhouse for restoration and was given ownership by the Randall County Historical Survey Committee last summer.

A regent nod was also given to a plan for the university to try to obtain a 16.6 acre tract of land near the Veterans Administration Hospital in Amarillo for future construction of classroom facilities. Negotiations are underway with the Government Services Administration for the property, which has been declared surplus by the governmental agency.

Currently, WTSU holds Amarillo classes in public school buildings.

The board okayed an interagency cooperative contract between the Governor's office and the university for a research program. The contract calls for the state to provide about $20,000 for funding of an analysis of the status of historical and archeological salvage activities related to state-level funded construction programs.

A new university seal, to replace the State of Texas seal in use for a number of years, was okayed for implementation. The seal was designed by John Eder, formerly a student recruiter for the university who has resigned to enter private business.

THE HEAT PUMP

ENERGY EFFICIENT...

We call the heat pump a "Bright Star" because although the idea has been around for some time now . . . there's a lot more interest in saving energy than ever before . . . people want to save energy, but they don't have to give up their comfort. With the heat pump, you don't have to give up anything. The heat pump makes wise use of energy because it uses otherwise wasted heat and electricity to heat and cool your home. Electric heat, in any form, is a wise use of precious energy and the heat pump is today's star of the system . . . more than 100% efficient at the point of use — actually provides more energy than it uses. Call us this week for a free electric heat cost survey of your home . . . and ask about the heat pump!
